CRICAGO (N. L.), 6: NEW YORK (N. L.), 3. The best the Giants could do yesterday was to create a gust of excitement by scoring three runs in the last inning. There was more noise than substance in a furor finish, although the Giants had three men on bases when the play which completed their defeat by the Cubs was made. The explosion of Lew Richie caused considerable noise, coming in the ninth after he had pitched invincible ball, and the yelling spectators furnished the rest of the racket.

Moreover, something aroused the militant McGraw, who consumed part of the ninth jawing at and berating Umpire O'Day and shaking his finger in the face of that official. In really Martian mood was Boss McGraw, who did not make himself scarce until Arbitrator Hank had consulted

The McGraw-O'Day tilt, with its flashing managerial eye like Mars to becken and command, didn't obscure the fact that the Glants for eight innings were putty in the hands of Richie and that the Cubs by hard hitting had run up a large lead. Had some of McGraw's belligerency been used by the Giants in biffing the ball 'twould have served a better purpose. The rally in the ninth consisted of only two parts hits to three parts bases on balls and one part error. Many spectators left before the ninth and therefore missed the only demon-stration of force made by the Giants.

Popular opinion had the Cubs dead and ried two days ago, but they refused to stay dead. Two days ago we were singing "One More Job for the Undertaker," but the Cubs declined to regard themselves as subjects for a requiem. They were only moribund, and revived suddenly from an injection of slapstick serum. The sam rubber covered cork centre ball, or whatrich crop of base hits this season, had a sponge in its centre surrounded by lead when the Giants came to hit it. Ames was batted out of the box in the

The Giants staggered around all day trying to head off Chicago hits and more than once their inability to do so was due less to any flieding fault of theirs than to the fact that the ball was driven the way a mile a minute. After Drucke went in the Cubs didn't fo'low up their opportunities after the manner of a real live team. Twice they had two men on bases with nobody out, but couldn't score. Drucke got out of deep holes cleverly. His work a the box was excellent.

in the box was excellent.

The first Chicago run resulted from an error, and a freak error it was. Tinter grounded to Ames, who ran over to first with the ball and handed it to Snodgrass.

Snodgrass accepted the gift so gingerly that the ball fell out of his hands. Zinner merman singled Tinker to third. Bridwell threw Riling out, but fumbled iong enough for Tinker to prance to the plate. In the fourth inning Snodgrass made New York's first bit and with none out. He went to second on an out, but sheekard made a surpassing catch of Murray's liner and doubled Snodgrass off second.

All five Chicago runs in the fifth came after two were out. Kling opened with a double, went to third when L. Doyle threw out Richie and loitered there while Sheekard and Kling scored. Schulte made third and rove hard to Ames, who deflected the hall to L. Doyle, but too late for an out. On a double steal by Schulte and Doyle, possible because of wison's noor heave to Bridwell. Schulte taillied. Chance doubled.

on a double steal by Schullte and Doyle, possible because of wilson's poor heave to Bridwell. Schulte tallied. Chance doubled to centre ard scored Hofman. J. Doyle sent a double screaming past Tisker and scored Chance. Tinker poled to centre for a hit and scored J. Doyle.

Drucke began pitching in the sixth. Kling singled and took second on Richie's safe bunt. Sheekard fanned as Kling attempted to steal third. Fletcher made a fine play going up for Wilson's high throw and reaching down for Kling. The Cubs fizzled out in a similar manner in the eighth. Tinker singled and Zimmerman bounced a two bagger off Bridwell's shins. Kling hit to Drucke, who throttled Tinker at the plate Zimmerman went to third and tried to work a splendid pickup of Bridwell's low return throw and got Zimmy.

Snodgrass had fanned and Murray given up the ghost at first in the ninth when the pot began to boil. Recker patiently waited for four balls. Bridwell singled through an open space at short. Fletcher waited and walked. Another pass to Wilson forced Becker home, Richie throwing his glove down with great violence when O'Day called the last one a ball. Chance rushed Brown out to warm up, but while the miner was doing so Meyers grounded to Tinker, who fumbled, and Bridwell scored. Devore hit sharply to short and brought Fletcher was garnished by jumping jack coaching and the roars of the rooters, all of which ceased with L. Doyle's fly to Hofman.

Here's a complete novelty in the motoring world. O. B. Williams, a business man of Seattle, bought a Lozier car not long ago and specified that the name "Lorna Doone" was to be painted on the bood of the machine. The lettering was done in gold on a blue background. There ien't any reason in the world why a man shouldn't give a name to an automobile the same as he does to a boat or to his villa or to his house. The only thing to his villa of to his house. The only tang is to make the name sound appropriate. Truckmen, remembering the days they painted Billy or Florence on the dash-board of their horse drawn vehicles, have done the like by motor trucks, and so one may see some huge monster of iron and steel puffing along with the gentle name of

"Lillie" on a side member. It's all right to calla racing machine a Dragon, a Hummer, a Wizard or what not, but when they come down to calling it "Imogene" or "Percival" many folks will think the titles aren't de-BALTIMORE, May 12.—There was almost a riot at the Pimileo track this afternoon as a result of the poor sendoff that Starter It was proposed out in Detroit several as a result of the poor sendoff that Starter

Columbia defeated Princeton by the score of 5 to 4 in a lawn tennis match on the South Field courts yesterday afternoon. The Tiger racquet wielders put up a game fight, but they were unable to hold the Columbia players in doubles, although they held them to a tie score in the singles with three matches all. Dean Mathey, the intercollegiate singles champion, was a little off his game and had a hard time in beating A. S. Moses, the Columbia captain, in the singles. The outcome depended on the last match of the day, for when Harvey and Moses, the Columbia pair, went against Speers and Rawley of Princeton the score was tied at four all. The two home players, however, had little difficulty in winning playing a hard volleying game. The summarie Singles—D. Mathey, Princeton, defeated A. S.

MORE THAN 780,000 CAR REGISTRATIONS IN U. S.

Estimates and Exact Figures Toe Given for the Various States of the Union —A Novelty in the Way of Naming Automobiles—Detroit Fights Meter Law A list of the automobile registrations, actual and estimated, for all the States of the Union has been made up by the Auto Directories Company, which arrives at the total of about 780,000 registrations in the whole country. This doesn't mean of course that this many individual automobiles are registered, because one man may have several State licenses for his machine.

The computation discloses some odd things. New York leads in the number of registrations, with approximately 70,000. But Michigan, which contains Detroit, is credited with only 18,000 registrations. New Jersey is figured at about 17,000. Pennsylvania and California come second to New York, tied with 40,000, and Oblo with
